

Alliance Rifle Club

STALINGRAD MATCH
GERMANY VS SOVIET UNION
FEBRUARY 1ST, 2025

The Alliance Rifle Club's first Stalingrad Match was held Jan. 29, 2006. It was started by Dan Huss and has prevailed as the "match that begins a new shooting season." The match commemorates the siege of Stalingrad during WW2. The well supplied Germans were attempting to take Stalingrad from the starving and ill-supplied Russians. The Russians prevailed by sheer determination and sacrifice.

The theme of the match is to shoot either a German or a Russian rifle of the period. People shooting with something other than a German or Russian rifle shoot as mercenaries as long as the rifle is period correct.

The course of fire will be 6 targets and 8 rounds for score at each distance. One sighter at each distance. The match director's choice of distances. This year we will be shooting 300M, 400yds, 550yds, 640yds, 800yds and 965yds.

The range opens at 8:30 with the competition beginning at 10:30.

We will provide soup, a drink and heat in the boxcar. Bring along something to share for the meal if you want but it is not required.
